

A close-up, black and white photograph of a greyhound's face, showing its eye and the characteristic speckled pattern on its fur. The image is the background for the top two-thirds of the page.

2020-2021

COURSE CATALOG

Major Travis Yates presentation/consulting rates: $3900 for one-day course, includes travel and expenses. Two days of consecutive training $5000, can be different courses or multiple days of the same course. Seating unlimited.

Seconds for Survival: Survival: Win the Ambush

"Seconds for Survival" is a dynamic, media intensive course designed to reduce the reactionary gap that can lead to deadly consequences in law enforcement interactions with suspects. Real life scenarios combined with tactical considerations are discussed throughout the training that give students the knowledge to survive attacks.

Learning Goals and Objectives

- Participants will recognize characteristics of Cop Killers
- Participants will identify Pre-Attack Indicators
- Participants will identify body language and clues for danger
- Participants will discuss how to prevent the Ambush
- Participants will recognize the dangers of 'Action vs Reaction'
- Participants will recognize Verbal & Non-Verbal Clues to the Attack
- Participants will develop Command Presence for Survival
- Participants will recognize the Meaning of Suspect Deception
- Participants will demonstrate knowledge Weapon Indicators
- Participants will develop knowledge of Fight or Flight
- Participants will demonstrate knowledge of pertinent Case Law

Courageous Leadership for Law Enforcement

While there are hundreds of leadership courses and thousands of books dedicated on the subject, law enforcement continues to be plagued with a serious lack of leadership and risk management principles. Based on the best-selling book, The Courageous Police Leader, this course will prepare first responders from all ranks to be courageous in their principles in order to give those under their control a safer working environment.

While many leadership courses focus on theory, this course focuses on practice and the principles taught will help the leader immediately and "de-centralized" leadership is emphasized so every police officer from every rank can be inspired to be a leader. This course discusses important aspects of leadership with a modern-day perspective.

Learning Goals and Objectives

- Participants will identify Courageous Character
- Participants will recognize Courageous Competency
- Participants will demonstrate knowledge of Courageous Policy
- Participants will identify the pillars of Courageous Training
- Participants will develop an understanding of Courageous Community

Drive to Survive

The “Drive to Survive” Seminar is a dynamic course designed to introduce law enforcement officers to a wide variety of topics related to emergency vehicle operations. This course has been taught for close to two decades by the ILEETA Trainer of the Year, Major Travis Yates. He is considered the foremost expert on police driving issues and is a sought out expert consultant and trainer in the area of driving safety.

This seminar is designed for all officers and can be adapted to conform with your State’s requirement for in-service training, etc. Whether you want to reduce the collision rate at your agency or update your trainers, do not miss the opportunity to take “Drive to Survive”.

Learning Goals and Objectives:

- Vehicle Dynamics
- Attitude
- Emergency Driving
- Non-Emergency Driving
- Pursuits
- Effects of Stress
- Pursuit Intervention Techniques
- Legal Updates
- And Much More.....

Officer Survival: Mindset 360

This innovative course takes the most common types of line of duty death/injuries and outlines strategic and proven methods to make those in attendance safer and empower them to mentor others. Topics include the leading causes of death in law enforcement including roadway incidents, felonious assaults, heart attacks and emotional health.

The unique approach of this course discusses these well-known topics in a fashion that will get and maintain the attention of the audience. The importance of sound leadership, “courageous conversations”, and turning back a dangerous culture within the law enforcement profession are just some of the issues discussed.

Learning Goals and Objectives:

- Participants will identify the negative effects of stress
 - Participants will recognize pre-assault indicators
 - Participants will develop a knowledge of “Fight or Flight”
 - Participants will build skills in stage and vehicle stop tactics
- And MUCH more...
-